AIDSRIDE 9

HERBST & FESTIVAL PAVILIONS

More than a thousand riders are registered to pedal 575 miles from San Francisco to Los Angeles to raise funds for California HIV/AIDS organizations.

AIDS Project Los Angeles (APLA) is one of the beneficiaries of this year's ride. "We're pleased to see so many individuals committed to training for this incredible journey and raising money for HIV/AIDS service organizations throughout the state," said Craig E. Thompson, Executive Director of APLA. "With one million Americans now living with HIV and a frightening number of young people with a complete lack of understanding and respect for the seriousness of this virus, the courage of these AIDSRiders is needed now more than ever."

Over the past eight years, 15,000 people have participated in California AIDSRides, raising more than $40 million. The funds from this year's ride will help support services including basic necessities like food, professional dental care, counseling, high-quality health care, hot meals delivered to homebound people with AIDS, and targeted prevention education.

Local beneficiaries of AIDSRide 9 include AIDS Community Research Consortium of San Mateo County; AIDS Legal Referral Panel of the San Francisco Bay Area; AIDS Project East Bay in Alameda County; AIDS Resources, Information and Services of Santa Clara County; Black Coalition on AIDS, San Francisco Bay Area; Diablo Valley AIDS Center, Contra Costa County; and Face to Face Sonoma County AIDS Network.

AIDSRide activities take place at Fort Mason Center June 1 and 2. For details, see June 1. For more information, to get involved with California AIDSRide, or to pledge financial support, call (800) 825-1000 or visit www.BeThe People.com.

WORLD WINE MARKET

FESTIVAL PAVILION

Broaden your wine horizons by sampling and comparing exceptional wines from five continents. Discover handcrafted gems from small family-owned wineries in California, Chile, France, Italy, the Pacific Northwest, South Africa, and more.

The World Wine Market is an international exhibition for the wine trade and, on Saturday only, also for the general public. Attendees are restaurateurs, retailers, wholesalers and distributors, importers, exporters, and media. A comprehensive seminar and structured tasting program accompanies the exhibition. Eight tastings have been designed specifically to help wine lovers learn more about wine appreciation, and how to get more value when buying wine.

The price is $40 per tasting, or a daily rate of $120 for four. Sign up for one or more sessions and the $30 admission fee for the exhibition is waived. For a complete list of the tastings and to register: visit www.world-wine-market.com, or call (800) 235-3332.

This event is the first international wine marketplace in the United States, including top wine producers from North America, South America, Europe, Australia, and South Africa. The Market brings buyers and sellers together to sample and compare the best new wines, explore new business opportunities, build profitable new relationships, and learn more about wine marketing.

World Wine Market takes place in the Festival Pavilion June 20 through 22. The event is open to the trade on Thursday and Friday from 11am to 7pm and Saturday from 10am to 6pm. The general public is admitted only on Saturday.

Advance registration is free for the trade and media, $30 for the general public; otherwise, admission is $50 at the door. Note that no one under 21 is admitted, and a photo ID is required. For information, call (415) 383-1226 or visit www.world-wine-market.com.

PAUL HAWKEN

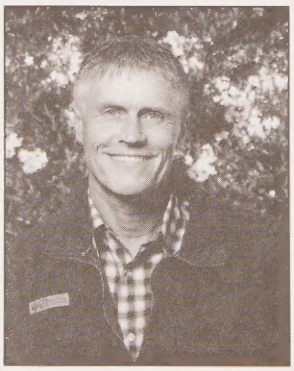
COWELL THEATER

World-renowned environmentalist, educator, lecturer, entrepreneur, and best-selling author Paul Hawken shares his insights about meeting the increasingly complex challenges to the environmental movement in the 21st century. "Redefining Environmentalism" is a benefit for Urban Ecology, a Bay Area urban environmental organization that uses planning and design to improve cities.

Considered one of the most important environmental thinkers of our time, Hawken is recognized as one of the leading architects and proponents of corporate reform with respect to ecological practices. He is the author of The Ecology of Commerce and Natural Capitalism and is the founding board chair and current chairman of The Natural Step. This educational foundation assists world government and business leaders in achieving long-term competitive advantage through environmental sustainability.

Co-founder of the very successful and innovative Smith & Hawken mail order garden supply company in 1979, he left the company in 1991 to devote his formidable energies to the problem of global sustainability.

"The environmental movement must respond to the changing needs of communities, especially in urban areas," said Rachel Peterson, Executive Director of Urban Ecology. "We are lucky to have Paul Hawken as a leader of the environmental movement, and we hope that this event can contribute to the dialogue about what it means to be an environmentalist in present-day America."



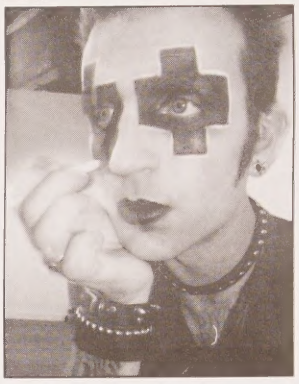
"Paul Hawken: Redefining Environmentalism" is presented in the Cowell Theater June 13, Thursday at 7pm. Admission is $15 in advance, $17 at the door. For tickets, call the Fort Mason box office, (415) 345-7575. For more event information, call (510) 251-6330 or visit www.urbanecology.org.

ARTANGELS

COWELL THEATER

San Francisco has a vibrant population of young, tech-savvy professionals who appreciate the arts, culture and creativity the area has to offer. They represent the next generation of art patrons. At the same time, the Bay Area is home to many talented small and mid-size arts organizations that lack sufficient marketing and development resources to reach this potential new audience.

A San Francisco-based all-volunteer nonprofit organization founded in 1999, artAngels is dedicated to cultivating a new generation of philanthropists to help ensure that the Bay Area retains its reputation for cultural vitality and artistic excellence.



XENO

artAngels presents "Inhibition/Exhibition," a benefit showcasing the dynamism and diversity of the San Francisco Bay Area artistic community. Featured are performances by Kunst-Stoff, Xeno, and other local theater, music, and dance organizations.

The event's highlight is "Super Vision," a world premiere work by choreographer Tomi Paasonen, addressing issues of privacy, security, identity and identification. Also on the program are trapeze artists, circus performers and butoh dancers; a video art presentation; an exhibition featuring emerging Bay Area visual and installation artists; and ambient electronic music by local DJs and musicians. The Friday evening Gala includes complimentary food and drinks, and a live and silent auction with pieces from many local galleries and emerging Bay Area artists.

artAngels also hosts the first and only philanthropic Web site for the arts, linking local organizations with volunteers, enthusiasts, patrons, and other arts groups. By creating the first online venue where supporters can learn about and contribute to organizations, artAngels.org enables art lovers to use the Internet to become patrons ("angels"), directly channeling resources to the arts quickly and efficiently.

"Inhibition/Exhibition" is presented in the Cowell Theater June 21 and 22, Friday from 6 to 11:30pm, Saturday from 7 to 11:30pm. Admission is $40 for the Gala Benefit on Friday. For the general performances and exhibition on Saturday, tickets are $18 until June 14, $20 until June 20, and $22 at the door. For tickets, call the Fort Mason box office, 345-7575, or visit www.ticketweb.com. For more information, visit www.artangels.org.

MUSIC IN THE MAKING

COWELL THEATER

The Women's Philharmonic presents the 14th annual "Music in the Making: New Music Reading Sessions." The program provides an invaluable opportunity for up-and-coming women composers to experience a full orchestral rendering of their work, receive the reactions of other composers, conductors, performers, and audience members, and obtain a quality recording of their work to assist in their advancement.

This year's selections include two adventurous additions to the field of new music: "Cantares para Orquesta" by Alba Potes and "Echoes Down an Endless Hall" by Susan Templeton. Potes, whose works have been performed from Colombia to South Korea, is the recipient of many awards.

Templeton is a Ph.D. student in composition and theory at UC Davis. Her work has been featured by 20th Century Music magazine and has been performed by several groups including the Empyrean Ensemble.

This program is presented in conjunction with "Composing a Career," a career development symposium for women composers taking place at Dominican University of California in San Rafael. The weekend of music, lectures, panels and group discussions is June 14 through 16. Registration deadline is June 3. For more information, visit www.womensphil.org.

"Music in the Making" is presented in the Cowell Theater June 15, Saturday at 7:30pm. Admission is free. For information, call (415) 437-0123.

WORD FOR WORD

COWELL THEATER

Word For Word presents a special benefit evening with master short-story writer Tobias Wolff. One of America's most renowned literary craftsmen, Wolff has been writing and teaching all his life. A discussion with the author follows Word For Word's production of his short story "Bullet in the Brain."

Masterful in its precision, "Bullet in the Brain" shows us, says Wolff, "what happens to us when we...let go of those delights that move us when we're young....[when] we stop hearing the music we used to hear."

When he was 20, Wolff served as a Special Advisor to the Vietnamese Army, the source for his memoir In Pharaoh's Army: Memories of the Lost War. It is considered by some to be the finest book published about Vietnam, and was a National Book Award nominee. Wolff has said that he believes in the "exuberant unencumbered faith in the power of stories to clarify our sense of reality." His preoccupation with moral themes lends a keen sense of grace and power to his work.

Word For Word is a theater company that transforms classic and contemporary fiction into performance works for the stage. The company performs stories and short novels in their entirety, preserving the author's language and honoring his or her literary intent.

"An Evening With Tobias Wolff" is presented in the Cowell Theater June 17, Monday at 7pm. Admission is $33; Student Rush tickets are $15, available 15 minutes before showtime. For tickets, call the Fort Mason box office, (415) 345-7575.

CHAMBERDANCE

Megan Kurashige

An important part of advanced training in classical ballet is learning repertoire in a variety of styles, and performing it for an audience. Richard Gibson and Zory Karah, Artistic Directors of San Francisco's Academy of Ballet, have created Chamberdance for this purpose.

"An Evening of Dance" features staged demonstrations of a dancer's training, showing advancement from beginner through professional. The second half showcases performances by students of the Academy.

Repertoire includes "Rhapsody," the company's signature piece; the Don Quixote pas de deux; the Flower Festival in Genzano pas de deux; and a new piece choreographed by Oakland Ballet dancer Samuel Pott.

The Academy offers classes that are carefully graded both for age and technical level; each student is given the individual attention that is necessary for his or her progress. Among the guest faculty members are Donn Edwards, Pascale Leroy, Joanna Berman, Carmela Zegorelli, Zoltan Peter, Julia Adams, and Kristine Elliott.

All of the young dancers in these performances are dedicated, disciplined and willing to spend long hours in classes and rehearsals. Some will go on to careers as professional dancers and some will not. All will be enriched by the experience.

The program is presented in the Cowell Theater June 8 and 9, Saturday at 7pm, Sunday at 3pm. Admission is $16, $10 for 12 and under. For information, call (415) 552-1166 or visit members.aol.com/balletsf.

A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM

COWELL THEATER

San Francisco Youth Ballet Theatre is a nonprofit performing arts association that provides young dancers of all ages, skill levels, backgrounds, and body types the opportunity to participate in classical ballet productions. Children can also contribute behind the scenes, or simply be audience members in ballet productions. In the process, they learn about classical music and composers, choreography, and staging.

Students study and perform with acclaimed professional dancers who believe in preserving and expanding appreciation of classical dance in the youth community. The performances are of a professional quality designed to offer families affordable classical ballet entertainment.

SFYBT provides a means for non-professional dancers to experience, discover and explore the art of ballet and their own creative talents. The organization's staff members are dedicated to fostering a nurturing environment where students can build confidence and character, learn the meaning of commitment and teamwork, and enjoy participating in a performing art.

This year, SFYBT brings "A Midsummer Night's Dream" to life on stage for young audiences. Special guests include Cassandra Seeger (former soloist, Pittsburgh Ballet), Kellie Foy (former soloist, Escuela Cubana de Ballet), and Marc Barca (Dancer's Workshop, Jackson Hole, Wyoming).

"A Midsummer Night's Dream" is presented in the Cowell Theater June 29 and 30, Saturday at 7pm, Sunday at 1pm. Admission is $15. For tickets, call (415) 731-2237. For more information about SFYBT, visit www.sanfrancisoyouthballet.org.

SINING KUMINTANG

COWELL THEATER

Kul Arts, in association with Barangay SF, presents Sining Kumintang Ng Batangas performing folkloric Philippine music and dance. The troupe, from Batangas, the Philippines, brings a fresh approach to folkloric dances in the style of the Bayanihan Philippine Dance Company.

Drawing from the dance traditions of the diverse ethnic groups that inhabit the 7,100 islands of the Philippines, the troupe performs exuberant barrio dances from the central Philippines, vigorous northern mountain war dances, and mystical Southern Philippine dance dramas. With exquisite attention to the intricate gestural language of folkloric dance communicating the unique traditions of each region, Sining's performances are awe-inspiring. The 30-member group has represented the Philippines at numerous international festivals in Europe and the United States.

In Pilipino, sining means "the art," kumintang is "arm movements," and ng Batangas is "of Batangas." Founded in 1581, Batangas is one of the oldest regions of the Philippines, with a distinct cultural heritage. Sining Kumintang is the resident professional company of Bauan High School, where dance and theater arts are an integral part of the curriculum.

This vigorous training program in Pilipino music and dance empowers the students to embrace their heritage and culture, as well as gain the skills to create new works. Sining Kumintang's tour brings to the United States the significance of this rich cultural identity, and exemplifies the artistic excellence of Philippine art forms.

The program is presented in the Cowell Theater June 16, Sunday at 2:30 and 7:30pm. Admission is $18 and $20 at the door, $15 and $17 in advance. For groups of ten or more, advance tickets are $13. For tickets, call the Fort Mason box office, (415) 345-7575, or visit www.ticketweb.com.

QUILT ART

SF AFRICAN AMERICAN HISTORICAL & CULTURAL SOCIETY

The San Francisco African American Historical and Cultural Society presents Quilt Art: Black Bay Area Quilters, an exhibition featuring African American quiltmakers from the Greater Bay Area. The show includes both contemporary and historical pieces. Participants are Karen D. Boutte, Cherrymae Golston, Jessie McElroy, Erin Algeo, Olaitan V. Callender-Scott, the Rev. Judy Wortham-Sauls, and Raife and Margree Picket.

The exhibition highlights the long legacy that African American quilters are heirs to, and showcases the wide range of techniques and artistic expression in contemporary quilting.

Karen Boutte was introduced to sewing by her mother. It wasn't until Karen's own children were grown and she retired from her career in information systems that she began to develop her skills as a designer of wearable art. She loves the freedom of creating "anything I can dream up" by cutting and combining and sewing beautiful fabrics.

Cherrymae Golston

"I use found objects, words, poems, stories, metal pieces, vibrant colored fabrics and varied textures often in combination with photographic and other images to make quilted art," writes Olaitan Scott. "My quilts often celebrate special occasions or are healing quilts designed to give life-affirming and spirit-raising energy to the owner/observer/user (and to me). This is definitely my passion!"

"My quilted wall hangings explore a dual heritage: through the medium of North American quilting," says Cherrymae Golston, "I present images of women engaged in traditional dometic activities in the tropical settings I associate with my first homeland [Belize]. My art is celebratory and affirmative....My work provides strong, positive images of women of African and Caribbean descent who are all too often represented in a less than positive light."

Founded in 1955, the San Francisco African American Historical and Cultural Society is one of the oldest institutional repositories in the Western United States dedicated to the collection, study and presentation of African American thought and culture.

"Quilt Art: Black Bay Area Quilters" opened April 14 and continues through June 30. For details, see Galleries listing.

FIRST LOVE

Magic Theatre presents the West Coast premiere of First Love, a frank, funny, and poignant look at love in the autumn of life by the author of smash hits Summertime, Big Love, and Orestes.

In this latest work from Charles Mee, Harold and Edith, a pair of septuagenarians, negotiate the exhilarating and devastating terrain of a full-speed-ahead love affair. Bay Area actors Robert Parnell and Joan Mankin undertake the elderly lovers in what Digital City called an "unprecedentedly daring and humane play."

Mee's other stage works include The Chalk Circle, The Investigation of the Murderer in El Salvador, and True Love. The San Francisco Chronicle called Summertime "a delight," judging its premiere at the Magic "the sweetest surprise of the season."

Charles Mee is in residence at the Magic for First Love; the play is directed by his daughter, Erin B. Mee. Her credits include The Imperialists at the Club Cave Canem at New York's Public Theatre; Troilus and Cressida at the Guthrie Theatre in Minneapolis; and two plays by Kavalam Narayana Panikkar with the prestigious Sopanam Theatre in Kerala, South India.

First Love previews starting June 7 and continues through June 30. See June 7 for details. For tickets, call (415) 441-8822. For more information, visit www.magictheatre.org.

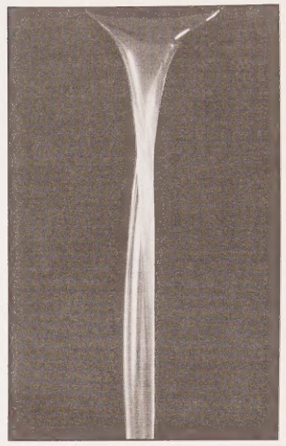
FANTASTIC VISIONS & LIQUID GOLD

MUSEO ITALOAMERICANO



"Oro"
by Andrea Bartolucci

The Rounded Watercolors Of Fabrizio del Tessa
This internationally recognized illustrator creates brilliantly colored works of amazing perspective that are "almost maniacal" in their hyper-realism. His "rounded" figures—bizarre humans and anthropomorphic animals—depict historical situations with humor and realism.

The exhibition showcases more than forty watercolors and works on paper, featuring "rounded" creatures that exist in colorful worlds where the backgrounds are delineated with superb perspective and detail. The protagonists are participants in historical dramas and everyday situations, all rendered with a humorous twist.

Del Tessa's creations lead the viewer into a fabulous universe where the unreal can become real, where faithful depictions of architecture and landscape are also fantastic visions and hyperbolic verbal parodies, reminiscent of paintings by Pieter Brueghel the Elder.

The Tree of Gold
"L' Albero dell' Oro" is the olive tree, and its gold is in liquid form—olive oil. This exhibition of photographs by Andrea Bartolucci chronicles the growing and harvesting of olives and the process of producing olive oil in Tuscany.

It's a quiet homage to the ancient and back-breaking ritual of olive husbandry in the picturesque countryside. The images reveal the silvery glimmer of the leaves; the hidden and innate preciousness of the small green and black fruits; the brightly colored nets spread on and above vast rocky hillsides that seem to connect land and sky, or land and sea. The photographs unveil the hands and faces of the farmers, etched with the fatigue of this work. The photographs also capture the enchantment of the process, evoking the fragrance of the soil and the sour, intense scent of multitudes of olives

In conjunction with the exhibition, the Museo presents a program introducing a revolutionary new process. For thousands of years olive oil has been produced by crushing the pits and the flesh of the fruit together. The new technology gently destones the olives so the oil is made from the pulp alone. Dr. Robert Crea, one of the founding Scientific Directors of Genentech, Inc., tells the "inside story" of this new process. The lecture and tasting is June 13, Thursday from 7 to 9pm. Admission is $15, pre-registration is required. For more information about the new process, visit www.SupremoOil.com.

Both exhibitions continue through June 23. See Galleries listing.

FORT MASON CENTER

LOOKING FOR AN EVENT SPACE?

Fort Mason Center has a wide variety of attractive and affordable venues available for workshops, conferences, seminars, performances, and special events.

Our facilities—the Conference Center, Firehouse, Cowell Theater, Herbst and Festival Pavilions, and the meeting and activity rooms—are able to accommodate groups from 5 to 5,000.

Whether you are planning a large conference or trade show, a meeting or a gala, Fort Mason Center's spectacular setting and reasonable rental rates make it an outstanding location for all events and activities.

Our experienced staff accommodates your every need with an eye for detail and an attitude of excellence in a personal and professional manner.

The recently renovated Conference Center and Firehouse feature state of the art lighting, MechoShades, wall to wall carpeting, completely remodeled restrooms and updated heating systems. Both spaces command incredible views of San Francisco Bay, and have access to an outdoor patio area. With breakout rooms and capacities from 20 to 300, the Conference Center and Firehouse are ideal for your next event.

The Herbst and Festival Pavilions are major exhibit and special-event column-free facilities for up to 5,000 people. The Pavilions, 30,000 and 50,000 square feet respectively, also are available for trade shows, corporate receptions, and large fund-raising events.

The Cowell Theater, with seating for 437, is fully equipped with sound and lighting systems, dressing rooms, and a projection-/control booth. Situated at the north end of the Herbst Pavilion, with spectacular views of San Francisco Bay and the Golden Gate Bridge from the lobby area, the theater is suitable for performances, film showings, press conferences, lectures, meetings and seminars.

The ten Meeting and Activity Rooms and the Gatehouse are located throughout the campus and can accommodate from 5 to 100 participants at very reasonable rates. These spaces are ideal for meetings, classes, rehearsals, retreats and seminars, or as breakout rooms for activities in other Fort Mason Center facilities.

There is free parking on site and along the beautiful Marina Green, with easy accessibility from all directions. MUNI comes right to our front door.

Located between the Golden Gate Bridge and Fisherman's Wharf on San Francisco's northern waterfront, Fort Mason Center is a unique blend of entertainment and education, open day and night, year-round. A National Historic Landmark and part of the Golden Gate National Recreation Area, it's the setting for more than 15,000 events each year.

The Herbst International Exhibition Hall, located in the Presidio of San Francisco, has shown some of the city's premier exhibits, including the Smithsonian Institution's "Ocean Planet" and "European Instruments of Torture" from the Criminal Medieval Museum of San Gimignano, Italy. Standing at the top of the Presidio's historic Main Post, the Exhibition Hall has approximately 8,000 square feet of space and features climate control, secure storage, a ticket office, gift shop, and food service area. The Herbst International Exhibition Hall, a project of the Fort Mason Foundation, attracts culturally diverse exhibits and events that reflect the Foundation's commitment to the community.

Visit our web site, www.fortmason.org, to look at floorplans of the rental spaces. Call (415) 441-3400 for information, Monday through Saturday, from 9am to 5pm, or e-mail sales@fortmason.org.
